1. This Grief and Loss Journal is a companion to the story "The Invisible String" by Patrice Karst. I recommend first reading the story and then reviewing the journal with students. It was intended to be used over multiple sessions, and parts can also be completed at home. Directions for each page are provided at the top. To insert photos, please follow the directions provided (go to "Insert," "Image," and "Upload from Computer." You can then choose the image that you'd like and resize it to fit. The journal includes many interactive pages. For drag-and-drop activities, students can click on (or touch) the object and drag it over. Students can type directly in any fillable text boxes. For the maze, please follow the directions provided and go to, "Insert," "Line," and "Scribble."
2. A printable version of the journal is also included in the zip file.
