General Google Slides Directions:

1. Please sign in with your Google account.
2. Please click "make a copy" and a copy of the presentation will automatically be saved to your Google Drive.
3. If you are using Google Classroom, please assign the presentation to your students.
4. If you are not using Google Classroom, you can post the resource to the virtual platform that you are using, or email the link directly to students. If you email the link to students, please make sure that they or their parents have a free Google account first. They will click on the link, sign in with their Google account, and then a copy of the resource will automatically be saved to their Google Drive. They can then use any device (tablet, smart phone, computer) to access the resource.
5. To use the moveable circles in the presentation, please make sure that you are in "edit mode," not in "presentation" full-screen mode.

How to Use the Activity:

PLEASE MAKE SURE TO USE THIS PRESENTATION IN "EDIT MODE," NOT FULL-SCREEN "PRESENTATION MODE."

- This presentation teaches students all about feelings identification. Students learn what identifying feelings means, then learn all about 18 feelings. For each feeling, students learn how it feels in the mind, how it feels in the body, and a simple scenario in which a child may feel that way.
- On the last slide, students can share how they are feeling today by dragging the moveable black circles to the feelings.
- As you work through each feeling, I recommend having students act out that feeling on their faces and share about a time when they experienced that feeling.
- A PowerPoint version of this presentation and printable resources are included in the zip file, too.
- Questions? Please contact me at laura@musiccitycounselor.com. I'm here to help!
- PS I so appreciate when you please take a moment to leave feedback on my resources. It earns you credits towards future purchases, helps other educators find quality resources, and helps my small business grow! ☺
